THE VINTAGE

The weather conditions of the vintage 2009 were exceptional, combining a wet beginning of season and a very dry end of season. We can underline a loss of water resources for the 8th consecutive year in particular in February-March and in August-September. Concerning the temperatures, a cold winter and a soft vegetative season are the main points of 2009. We had a huge thermal range with chilly nights (7 to 15°C) and hot days (27 to 35°C). The budbreak took place normally, at the beginning of April but it was very quick. The flowering started at the end of May under excellent meteorological conditions. Finally, the “veraison” was homogeneous, at the beginning of August. Hot days, fresh nights and limited rainfalls produced an excellent ripeness of the berries all the way to the harvest.

REVIEWS AND AWARDS

Decanter

95/100

"Subtle, elegant cassis nose. Rich, dense and compact, with fine depth of fruit. Concentrated and brooding, with complex hints of mocha and black fruits. Underlying elegance and a fine balance of tannin and acidity. It has class, length and persistence."

Decanter, 01/12/2012

Wine Spectator

92/100

"An amped-up style, with showy aromatics of toasty spice and wood, but there's good solid density to the blackberry, blackcurrant and fig fruit."

Wine Spectator, 01/02/2012

93/100

"This is full-bodied, with super polished tannins and light smoky, chocolaty and plum character. Long and polished. Very fine indeed."

James Suckling - April 2012
