

Château de la Liquière

"A Legacy of Terroir, Tradition, and Timeless Elegance."

Perched in the heart of the Faugères appellation in Languedoc, Château de la Liquière rises majestically from rugged slopes with sweeping views of the Mediterranean. Established in the 1960s by the Vidal family, this estate has flourished through generations, blending heritage with modernity. Rooted in the schist soils characteristic of the region, the vines benefit from a singular microclimate, yielding wines of extraordinary finesse and elegance.

Château de la Liquière is renowned for its devotion to authenticity and its meticulous expression of terroir. Through precise, parcel-by-parcel vinification, the estate crafts wines that truly embody the spirit of Faugères. Intense aromas, profound minerality, and vibrant complexity define their range—from bold, spiced reds to crisp, floral whites and delicate rosés—all of which reflect the estate's rich diversity.

With over 15 years of organic certification, the Vidal family has long embraced sustainable viticulture, prioritizing biodiversity and natural methods. Eschewing chemical treatments, they rely on organic compost and eco-friendly practices to produce wines that are as pure as they are environmentally conscious. Their commitment to preserving the land is woven into every stage of production.

The schist soils of Faugères are the estate's signature, renowned for their heat retention and excellent drainage. These unique conditions create the ideal environment for ripening grapes such as Syrah, Grenache, and Carignan. A mosaic of parcels, each with distinct altitude and exposure, enhances the complexity of the wines. Vinified separately, these parcels lend precision and character to the final blends, showcasing minerality, silky tannins, and a freshness that defines Faugères' best expressions.

The Vidals seamlessly marry tradition with innovation to honor the potential of each grape. Hand harvesting ensures meticulous fruit selection, while the cellar blends time-honored techniques with modern precision—stainless steel for preserving vibrancy, and barrel aging for depth and structure.
