PRESENTATION

Located in Vaux-en-Beaujolais, a village famous under the name of Clochemerle, Domaine Le Fagolet is a family estate passed down since 1850. Paul Girard, a passionate winemaker, now oversees this 18-hectare vineyard, where he perpetuates nature-respecting methods. The vines, some of which are over 50 years old, are cultivated on steep slopes with inclinations reaching 30%, making any mechanical work impossible. This demanding topography gives the wines concentration and exceptional aromatic complexity. Harvesting is manual, with meticulous sorting directly in the vineyard. The estate favors whole-cluster vinifications and semi-carbonic macerations, emblematic techniques of Beaujolais that exalt the freshness and crunchiness of Gamay. The originality of Domaine Le Fagolet lies in its attachment to Beaujolais terroirs, illustrated by its TerroirGeoVin brand. Paul Girard explores the micro-parcels of his vineyard and vinifies some cuvées parcel by parcel, allowing for a singular and pure expression of each climate.

VARIETAL

Gamay 100%

TERROIR

Granite soil.

IN THE VINEYARD

Sustainable farming. Parcel selection.

HARVEST

Manual harvesting.

WINEMAKING

Whole bunch fermentation, 5 days in stainless steel tanks, with controlled temperature increase using the MPC method (Hot Pre-Fermentation Maceration). Vinified without added sulfites.

SERVING

Serve at 12 to 14°C.

AGEING POTENTIAL

Enjoy all year long

TASTING

Deep purple color with raspberry highlights. Expressive and fruity with aromas of Burlat cherry, blackberry, and English candy. A bold and generous wine: rich, supple, with cherry notes, smooth tannins, powerful body, strong intensity, and long persistence.

FOOD PAIRINGS

Perfect with cured meats, bavette steak with shallots, grilled ribeye, and aged cheeses.
