

Domaine Romanin

Located in Fuissé, at the heart of one of the Mâconnais' most renowned areas, Domaine Romanin is a family-run estate passed down through five generations. Deeply rooted in its village, the domaine reflects a vision built on continuity, precision and a strong attachment to its terroir. This longstanding family heritage gives the estate a discreet yet well-defined identity, shaped over time rather than through effect.

Spanning just over 10 hectares, the vineyard highlights the key terroirs of the area through appellations such as Mâcon-Fuissé, Mâcon-Villages and Pouilly-Fuissé. Its distinction lies in its ability to craft wines that are clear, balanced and coherent, offering a precise expression of Fuissé. Rather than seeking power or demonstration, the domaine focuses on natural precision, supported by an intimate knowledge of its parcels and the maturity of its vines.

Domaine Romanin stands out for a style that is both restrained and elegant, firmly anchored in its origin. The wines are defined by their clarity, finesse and their ability to express Chardonnay with purity and without excess. This measured approach, combined with consistent quality, gives the estate a distinctive position within the Mâconnais landscape.
