

Heritage De Vannieres

Château Vannières, a historic property located in Provence, has belonged to the Boisseaux family for several generations. Initially rooted in Burgundy, this family of winemakers has managed to combine its traditional viticultural know-how with the sunny character of Provençal terroirs. Today, Éric and Charles-Éric Boisseaux perpetuate this tradition with passion, seeking excellence in each of their cuvées. The vineyard, planted on rich clay-limestone soils, benefits from a Mediterranean climate tempered by maritime influence. It produces mainly structured red wines from Mourvèdre, Grenache, and Cinsault, but also elegant whites with floral notes. Vinifications are done with respect for the fruit, with careful aging in foudres and oak barrels to enhance aromatic complexity. What distinguishes Château Vannières is its unique style: powerful and refined wines, combining Provençal typicity with Burgundian elegance inherited from the family's know-how.
