Domaine Guy Farge, Terroir de granit, AOP Saint-Joseph, Red

AOP Saint-Joseph, Vallée du Rhône, France

Thomas Farge is the fourth generation of his family to be involved in viticulture. His father Guy started bottling his own wines in 2007 rather than sending the grapes off to the local Cave de Tain-l'Hermitage co-operative. Now Thomas has 17 hectares spread over Cornas, Saint-Joseph and Saint-Peray and makes a number of both red and white wines. The results, as with all of Thomas' wines, are pure balanced expressions of his terroir. These wines are from grapes raised mostly on Mount Sainte-Epine, a location sharpened by suggestions of cracked pepper and smoky minerals. Bitter cherry, black raspberry and floral pastille flavors take on a suggestion of salty olive as the wine opens up. Finishes long and spicy, with a repeating mineral note and steadily building tannins." Jancy Robinson, May 2019.

FOOD PAIRINGS

It's a good thing that the food that calls for Northern Rhône Syrah is simple! This is food for pampering yourself, staying at home and relaxing and is perfect with a wine that's a bit of a splurge. This wine needs red meats like beef and lamb and recipes that require putting a pot on the stove and letting it simmer. Rich hearty stews, roasts and grilled meats work best but it does wonders alongside lighter dishes such as veal and poultry. It pairs beautifully with mature cheeses and dry-aged goat cheeses.
