SERVING

I would serve it at 16°C and decant it to enhance its aromatic complexity.

TASTING

The wine has a ruby colour with a purple hue, it is crystal clear and bright. The legs are fine and regular. The colour confirms the youthful appearance of the wine. The first smell is intense and seductive, revealing notes of cherries and fresh raspberries, and then nuances of cocoa and toasted hazelnuts. After some aeration the nose intensifies and you pick up spicy notes such as Timut pepper and cinnamon.

The palate, it is intense and balanced, the aromas are the same as the nose, accompanied by a touch of cherry brandy.

The tannins are present but silky and delicate. The freshness brings a spark and energy to the wine.

The finish is balanced, smooth and dynamic.

FOOD PAIRINGS

I would accompany this wine with :

- roast partridge with cranberries, a reduction made with strawberry vinaigre and a puree of Jerusalem artichokes
- Trappe cheese with nut oil, crusty raisin bread and chutney made from medlars and mint.
- Warm chocolate tart, fig refreshed with a cinnamon sorbet and hazelnuts caramelized with half-salt caramel
