AOP Côtes-de-Provence,

Château Clarettes is a long-standing anchor on the Arcs-sur-Argens terroir and has reborn from its ashes like Phoenix in recent years. It's undergoing a complete renovation – with even more improvements to come – made possible by the will of wine enthusiasts Seligsons from Finland, who took over this vineyard in 2012. This historic estate is taking a page from nearby Bandol, utilizing a high proportion of Mourvèdre in its rosés.

PRESENTATION

The Seligsons are like vine whisperers, giving the soil some serious TLC and guarding the plants like they're precious gems. Their master plan? To whip up some top-notch, perfectly poised wines. They sneak out to harvest the grapes at the ungodly hours of 4 to 9 am – because, apparently, grapes are like vampires, they don't like too much sun. This early-bird strategy helps keep the grape juice from getting all huffy and oxidized, resulting in the Château's namesake cuvée that's worth setting an alarm for!

IN THE VINEYARD

Say adios to weed-killer! Château Clarettes has gone old school, embracing the wonders of Mother Nature's agriculture. In a move that's green in more ways than one, the estate has recruited a fluffy fleet of 'garden sheep'. These woolly eco-warriors get busy in late winter, munching away on pesky weeds and, bonus – they're walking, baa-ing fertilizer factories! It's part lawn-mowing, part soil-enriching, and 100% eco-chic

WINEMAKING

Snagged just as the sun peeks over the horizon, our grapes (handpicked from select plots) are caught off-guard. The Seligsons coax them from their stems with a gentle nudge and a light squish, all under the refreshing cloak of dawn to dodge the dreaded oxidation. This blend has a unique twist: half of it finished fermenting in barrels, and a third of those were brand spanking new. It then lounged on lees for a leisurely 10 months, soaking up all that rich, complex goodness.

TASTING

From the estate's premium lineup comes this opulent treasure, kept zesty with a burst of intense apple acidity. It's a harmonious blend where peach and pineapple mingle with a zippy lemon twist, lending the wine a sprightly flair. And for the grand finale? A zesty, tangy orange zest note that sings in the crisp aftertaste.
